Aladdin's Lamp Was All Right In Its Way

Whenever the Arabian Knight wanted anything, as we all know, he flashed a signal on his lamp to his private Geni and they generally did everything he wanted.

This was considered satisfactory service in the days before the Gazette classified ads took up the job of supplying everybody's wants.

But now—for instance—low bid at the case and dispatch with which Mrs. Blooded secured a closed body for his Ford the other day.

He let a little ad in The Gazette's classified columns do the signaling for him—and within two days he had accomplished what he wanted. The readers of the paper's classified columns supplied his want.

If you want to make Aladdin look like a puppet, add 3500 and ask for an advertiser.

Papa Didn't "Come Across," So Salm-Rogers Romance Is Over

The former Millicent Rogers and her husband, Count Salm von Hoogstraeten.

New York.—Papa didn't "come across," so the romance of Millicent Rogers, poor little rich girl, is over. She is returning home from Europe with her father, a sadder but wiser young woman, with the intention of suing Count Salm von Hoogstraeten, son of an old Austrian family, for a divorce.

When Millicent announced to her father four months ago that she had slipped off and married the Count, her father, H. H. Rogers, told her that not one penny of his forty Standard Oil millions would be given to her.

She got from him as long as she was married to Salm, whom he denounced as a fortune hunter.

Count Salm told a story of how he wooed and won the Rogers heiress to the newspapers and they sailed away to Europe. The romance began to pall when it became apparent that Papa was not going to come across as Millicent had confidently stated when they departed. But it kept alive as long as the money from her pawned jewels and French resorts. Then it died.

German Fascisti Force Headed by Ludendorff, Give Reds Bloody Reception

Berlin.—Fighting as a sequel to the monarchist demonstration at Halle is reported from the nearby town of Juelich, where eleven communists are said to have been killed and a number wounded.

Halle is known as the center of German communism and the monarchist seized the opportunity afforded by the unveiling of the restored von Moltke monument to stage a demonstration.

Headed by General Ludendorff and a score of former army and navy leaders, a fascist "army" estimated to number 25,000 men, most of them from Bavaria, the nationalist stronghold, marched into the city yesterday.

It was the most impressive array of the old military element under the monarchist colors since the World war. With the former crown prince in business in Berlin, the house of Hohenzollern was represented by Prince Oskar.

The only approach to violence about Halle proper reported in dispatches received here was a clash between police and communists on the outskirts of the city. A policeman was killed and five were seriously wounded by snipers.

MUNDELEIN HAILED BY GREAT THROG

Chicago Greets Its Cardinal, Who Wears Full Regalia in People's Honor.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago.—Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, returned to his diocese here yesterday to be acclaimed as the first prince of the Catholic church west of the Alleghenies by 1,000,000 persons who lined the 12 miles of streets traversed by the cardinal from railway station to Holy Name cathedral.

Deviating from custom and tradition, Cardinal Mundelein wore the full consistorial regalia of a cardinal, a great creak of cardinal red, with red cap, trimmed with gold lace, and the cardinal's wide-brimmed hat of red and gold. He said he wore them as a reward for those who came to honor him, the first time they ever had been seen in Chicago.

Tonight Cardinal Mundelein will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting in the Auditorium, and will deliver the message of Pope Pius XI to the people of America. He is expected also to tell of further honors for Chicagoans from the pope.

DEMAND CHANGE IN ASYLUM MANAGERS

Washington.—Major Frederick L. Martin and his mechanic, Staff Sergeant Alvin L. Harvey, will be ordered to Washington direct from Port Moller, Alaska, where they arrived safely after their plane had been wrecked and they had been missing for 11 days in the wilds of Alaska.

The two aviators will be named to duty in the army air corps headquarters at Fort Belvoir, but their names will be kept on the list of the around-the-world fliers, in compliment to the men and in recognition of the hardships they have endured in valiantly attempting to lead the squadron in the globe encircling flight.

Other Planes to Go on.

Meanwhile, the three other planes will continue their way around the world under command of Lieut. Newell H. Smith, senior officer in the absence of Major Martin.

The plans of the air service also will permit Major Martin to keep the designation of commanding officer of the flight, Lieutenant Smith's title, being that of acting officer in charge.

It is intended to send Major Martin and Sergeant Harvey across the Atlantic in time to greet the fliers and lend them on the way home from Europe. In that way giving them the post of honor which he lost by hard luck in Alaska.

Will Meet Flyers.

With the approval of Secretary Weeks, Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, today sent to Major Martin a telegram outlining to him the plan and ordering him to return to Washington to make ready for it.

"We rejoice," said the telegram, "that you are returning to us safe and well. Confident in you unshaken. You have proved yourself. Still want you to command flight. Cannot arrange for you to overtake others by going on west. You and Sergeant Harvey will report to me here without delay. Plan to send you and Harvey to join the first of the group which you can complete the journey with the rest of your command."

Major Martin reported to the war department today that he would leave tomorrow for Bellingham on route to Washington.

THIEVES GET $2,000 OF GOODS IN MILTON STORE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton.—Holmes general merchandise store was robbed of between $1,500 and $2,000 of its finest merchandise here between 1 and 2 a. m. Sunday, by men believed to have been professional thieves, who are believed to have carried the goods out the front door and loaded it onto a truck in which they made their getaway.

The men were unmolested during their work, there being no night watchman in the village. The robbery was not discovered until 5:30 p. m. Sunday, when the place was visited by H. E. Holmes, the proprietor.

Through Cellar Window.

Gaining entrance through a cellar window at the rear of the two-story building, the men carefully selected the best goods, carrying it out the front door after "jimmying" the door. The goods were taken to a checkup made Monday, consisting of 45 pairs of shoes, 29 or 30 dozen pairs of silk hose, and a large number of silk shirts, underwear and ties, and between $200 and $250 worth of silk yard goods, only the best "salable" goods was taken. So cleverly carried out was the robbery, that Mr. Holmes could not tell where it was made when he visited the store about 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

Not Discovers Sunday.

A plumber working in the rear of the building and entered through the rear, and Mr. Holmes did likewise and left by the same door, not noticing that the front door was unlocked. Covers on boxes were removed and goods were replaced and one could not tell from the appearance of the store that it had been visited by robbers.

Who Visited the Store.

Who visited the store through the day and it was not until Mr. Holmes went to the place in the evening that he discovered that some of the stock was gone, and conducted a check which showed his real loss. Police of Janesville, Beloit, and other cities were notified but thus far no trace of the robbers has been found.

Largest in Milton.

The store, the largest in Milton, moved this April to its present location, Sunday he claimed to have lost many previous seasons. The proprietor carries no burglary insurance. The second floor of the building is at present unoccupied.

Robbers are one clear of the place, as far as he can be learned, Mr. Holmes or his son do not recall the names of the robbers, who came in the store the past week, although the men had apparently "looked the land over" before making their coup.

PENNING NAMED IN FIRST DISTRICT

Conference at Elkhorn Selects Former Kenosha Mayor for Congress.

Elkhorn.—Charles H. Penning was nominated by a conference of republicans of the first congressional district, Saturday. He is a resident of Kenosha. There were presented the names of Theodore M. Beck, (Bellevue), W. S. Perigo of Beloit, Charles Sumner of Delavan, and Charles H. Penning, a real estate man of Kenosha. The first ballot, Penning got 20 votes, Beck 16 and Sumner 20. The 20 votes assigned Rock county went to Penning on the second ballot and, as Sumner had withdrawn his name as a candidate and Perigo the same, the conflict narrowed to Penning and Beck. Rock county's vote was split between Beck and Penning on the fourth ballot, the former receiving 43 and the latter 35.

Resolutions Adopted.

Riley S. Young, former lieutenant governor, was permanent chairman. Addresses were made by Lyman H. Wheeler of Milwaukee and Rev. C. Wesley Song of Delavan. Grant Harrington was selected as secretary, and a committee on permanent organization named after the nomination, consisting of J. J. Jones of Kenosha, John E. Rowlands of Racine, W. S. Perigo, Beloit, C. C. Randolph, East Troy, and George B. Harris, Watrous.

Resolutions adopted were as follows:

"The republicans of the First Congressional District of Wisconsin, assembled together in massed conference in the City of Elkhorn, on the tenth day of May, 1924, do adopt the following resolutions:

"We declare our unshaken confidence in the ability, honesty and integrity of President Calvin Coolidge and pledge him our heartfelt and strongest support in the coming national election.

"We believe that the present Member of Congress from this district does not represent the beliefs and principles of the Republican Party, and that it is the duty of the republicans of the district, knowing that he is openly opposed to President Coolidge and the policies that President Coolidge has come to embody, to elect a really representative Republican from this district and one who will support and stand forth for the principles and the Republican President."

"We, therefore, recommend that this conference select and place in nomination a strong, able and capable candidate for Congress from the First Congressional District of Wisconsin and that all here assembled today do their utmost to elect and elect the candidate so selected."

"Respectfully submitted by the following Committee on Resolutions: C. J. Sumner, George B. Harris, W. S. Perigo, W. T. Marriott, Wm. S. Perigo."

Light Attendance From Rock.

There were only two present from Rock county at the conference meeting and the vote showed a hundred participating. One reason given was that the call did not reach many in those sections until about Thursday.

Penning, the nominee, was sheriff of Kenosha county at one time, was mayor also of Kenosha, and served two terms in the senate. He was in the grocery business, as was his father before him, and has recently been in the real estate business.

ALEUTIAN RANGE SERIES OF TROUBLES FOR FLYER

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington.—Digging into the story of the Alaska peninsula explorers, the national geographic society today produced a picture of the region where Major Frederick L. Martin, the world flight aviator, crashed into a mountain side. It showed the topography and climatic conditions made it almost inevitable that the craft should come to grief.

Describing the country between Denali where the aviator took the air, and Port Moller to which he walked with Sergeant Harvey, his mechanic, the society said:

"The Aleutian range, between these points, offers frequent pitfalls for the aviator, because it consists largely of conical peaks, rising suddenly out of dreary tundras or marshes.

Settlements Are Few.

"The entire Alaska peninsula, extreme west of Alaska's mainland, is a mountain ridge of several hundred miles with spurs and sides sharply descending to the sea.

"Only about a dozen permanent Eskimo settlements are left along

In Cumberland street the waters were rising early today at the rate of 8 inches an hour. No loss of life had been reported.

Thirteen men from Janesville, Rockton, Rockford, Chicago, Harvard and Beloit were arrested Saturday night by Beloit police in the great week-end drive conducted this spring. All appeared Monday and were fined or given jail sentences for 15 months.

Ollie Meyer, Janesville, as a result of his arrest in Beloit for drunkenness, faces a term in the state prison at Waupun, to which he was sentenced for 15 months by Judge MacFeld on Oct. 11 and then placed under the state board of control. Judge Clark sentenced Meyer to jail for 15 months for driving a car while intoxicated. The Beloit judge planned to take up the matter with District Attorney S. G. Dunmiller.

POINCARE LOSES HIS MAJORITY IN FRENCH CHAMBER

OFFICIAL RESULTS OF SUNDAY ELECTIONS SHOWS DEFEAT.

Minority of Fifty.

Premier Is Given Hard Blow as Polls as Opposing Deputies Win.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris.—Nearly complete returns compiled at official headquarters today show that Poincare in yesterday's elections decided on a considerable change in domestic policies and at least important modifications in the method of handling his foreign affairs.

Premier Poincare's majority in the chamber of deputies was swept away in a violent swing of the political pendulum toward the left, and the bloc national, which formed the nucleus of that majority, was reduced to a minority of 50.

The foreign office announces the following elected with 16 seats missing:

Conservatives 19; bloc national, 208; radicals, 180; republican socialists, 20; socialists, 111; communists, 24. Total, 558.

Official figures, with 15 districts missing, show the chamber divided as follows:

Opposition in Majority.

Opposition 241. Poincare parties, 227. Opposition majority, 114.

The government claims 49 out of the 156 radicals elected will vote with the government in matters of foreign policy. Even if this is correct, however, the government will still remain in the minority.

An analysis of the official figures shows that if the dissident radicals who supported Premier Poincare in the preceding chamber continued to vote for him he would have about 275 votes of the total of 558, the full membership of the chamber, while the opposition would muster 282, with 14 seats yet to be allotted.

Experts in parliamentary affairs express the opinion that the 49 dissident radicals will find it necessary to join the other radicals in the organization of chamber, with the result that the bloc of the left would be increased to 331.

Persons close to the premier say there is no doubt that his fastidious loyalty to traditional constitutional procedure will lead him to retire.

Millerand Involved.

Ordinarily the president of the republic would ask the premier to remain in power until the new chamber showed what his desires were, but President Millerand is involved in a disaster to the national bloc, and the president, it is predicted, will make good his threat to resign if the national bloc were defeated. He cannot do so, however, until the chamber is organized and the new government installed.

WITH THE FARMERS

Farm Bureau Official Information

NEED TO INCREASE DEMAND ON CHEESE

No Apparent Reason for Drop in Butter Price, Declares Reid Murray.

By REID MURRAY
Sec. Wis. Livestock Breeders' Assn.
Since more than 100,000 lbs. of cheese is produced in Wisconsin farms in 1923, it is not surprising that the price of cheese is not holding up as well as could be expected and with the gradual increase of the per capita consumption each year and the extent of advertising of this product, the low prices should be overcome. The per capita consumption of cheese is up to about four pounds which is considerably more than in any other year. While 3.7 percent of the milk produced in the United States is made into cheese, about 10 percent of the milk produced in Wisconsin is used in this product so that the prices prevailing for the product is of special interest to this state.

There seems to be no reason why the price of butter should have taken a drop, as it has, in the face of the limited quantities that are in storage. Many leading farmers believe that this drop is not justified from the standpoint of supply and demand nor from ability of the consumer to pay. Many people feel that the eight cents per pound tariff on butter is not high enough and that the difference in the rate of exchange makes it possible for the foreign countries to ship into our markets.

The markets are consuming a tremendous run of pork and the fact that the United States exported over 200,000,000 pounds of pork last year and it is possible to export this enormous production. According to the United States reports there is a large reduction in the number of hogs at this time and the situation should right itself within the year.

Beef
The per capita consumption of meat in 1923 was 17 pounds, the highest it had been for several years and was exceeded only once before. There has been a fair demand for cheap quantities of beef and there is no reason to believe that the second class beef animals have to compete with the first class and worn out animals of the dairy industry and much profit from them cannot be expected according to the best livestock men.

Sheep
The sheep situation is rather encouraging. An export of 40 cents on wool seems to have had a marked influence on this product. There is only about 255,000,000 pounds of wool produced in the United States and a normal consumption of 500,000,000 pounds.

The price of mutton also has been very satisfactory during the past year and does not show any evidence of being overdone in the near future.

Exports of Dairy Cattle
Wisconsin continues to ship out large numbers of dairy cattle and during the past month of April shipped to thirty-three states. During April, 1924, there were shipped out of this state 14,724 head and the corresponding month last year 4016. These cattle are going into sections where not much dairying is done for diversified farming in the Dakotas, Nebraska and Iowa and also into sections of the inter-mountain states and a large number into the corn belt states. Through last year Wisconsin shipped out 55,000 head, from all sources at the present time there will be some increase in this amount during 1924.

Very desirable prices are obtaining on the better classes of dairy cattle. Many buyers paying up to $15 apiece for grades of top quality. While pure bred cattle have not moved very satisfactorily, yet there is considerable interest and more are being purchased than at any time during the last two years.

HARVEST FARM HERD TO BE SOLD MAY 19

Breeders of livestock in Wisconsin will be surprised to learn that the Holstein herd at Harvest Farms, Mayville, Wisconsin, managed by J. L. Rindorff, will be dispersed at the farm on Monday, May 19.

In the days when Phil King was turning out winning Wisconsin football teams that were the fear of the West, Jerry Rindorff was a guard and no player in Wisconsin's football fame was more respected than one Captain Jerry. The same characteristics that made him successful in a suit of football have predominated in his success as a livestock breeder with the result that Harvest Farms today have an international reputation. In the building of Harvest Farm fame, Jerry Rindorff has become nationally known. He has held highest offices in the foremost livestock organizations in the State. He has been a president and director of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association and of the Holstein-Friesian society of Wisconsin. He has been a counselor of the National Friesian and Holstein-Friesian Societies.

During the past few years Wisconsin has ranked high in the production of livestock. Just as rapidly as the Harvest Farms fame, year after year the herd has been close-cultured, showing ability and performance at the fair has been the only guide with the result that in late years some enviable achievements have been noted. No less than 22, 20 lb. cows have been developed and nine of these have milked more than 100 lbs. in a single day. In 1921 Harvest Farms won more Holstein ribbons than any other farm in the state fair. In 1922 Rindorff annexed more prize money than any other exhibitor. In 1923 he was the second highest bidder in the state fair. To the very best of Homestead breeding in females have been mated such noted bulls as Spring Farm, King, and others. King, Arthur, Pontine, Lark, Harvey, and others. In all some 70 head will be sold. It is one of the notable livestock events of the year. Harvest will go to the farm to be on hand sale time on Monday the 19th of May.

COLLEGE JUDGING TEAM VISITS FARMS

Classes Judged and Demonstrations Held at Four Rock County Farms.

Candidates for the Wisconsin College of Agriculture dairy cattle judging team were in Rock county Saturday the guests of the Farm Bureau making a tour of several farms and holding demonstrations and lectures were held. One girl, Mary Wright, was among the judging class and passed judgment on some of Rock county's finest dairy cattle. The team was accompanied and is being coached by Prof. Ray S. Hulse, dairy cattle husbandryman of the College of Agriculture.

During the morning the students were taken to Craighurst for judging of Holsteins and to Dr. W. A. Munn for judging of Jerseys. In the afternoon the students held demonstrations at the Douglass farm, near Beloit. The Douglass farm two outstanding classes were judged and then a demonstration given by Mr. Douglass on the new system of scoring cattle to be followed in the grade classes at Janesville fair, 40 percent for type, 40 percent for known records on butter-fat and 20 percent for milk production. It so happened that one cow judged high in type was found to be a poor milk producer, being only a fair producer, as compared to some of the cows declared lower in type.

"Milk production is important, although not as important as fat production," declared W. J. Douglass. "To my mind it is easier to breed type than it is to breed production and it is a fortunate breeder who has a good combination of both."

The trip was arranged by Jack C. Nisbet, Rock county livestock agent, and the following were those who accompanied: Prof. R. S. Hulse, C. C. Koser, George Sery, R. H. Webb, Albert Johnson, C. H. Whitworth, C. Wood, H. H. LaRue, H. M. Wood, B. Hill, Theodore Gorm, Mary Wright, Walter Farmer, and Clem J. Weyker.

Beloit Church Also Visited by "Meanest Thief"

Beloit Episcopal church as well as Trinity church, Janesville, was the victim of the thieving depredations of an unknown man, the Rev. Henry Williamson, rector of Trinity church, reported Monday. The robberies are similar in most details and were committed the same night, last Sunday or Monday. It is believed by a person of persons with a dread superstition of the cross. Father Williamson believes. In each instance everything in the church was left open and the thieves gained entrance through the front door which was left open. In neither church was anything taken from the altar.

A single candle was used by the thieves at both churches. Articles taken at the Beloit church were a small silk bag, four silk chalice veils, a number of linen altar cloths and a linen altar cloth. On none of the linen stolen at the Beloit church was there a cross embroidered. Entrance to the Beloit church was gained through a window. In Janesville they gained entrance through the front door which was left open. The theft at the local church is the first in the 74 years of its existence.

SPRAY RINGS START OPERATIONS MONDAY

It is time to spray the fruit trees. All of the 20 power sprayers in Rock county began Monday. The object of this time is to get the spray on while the buds are pink after the bud clusters have separated and before the blossoms open. No more spraying should be sprayed at this time.

"Use one gallon of lime sulphur and one pound of arsenate of lead to 40 gallons of water. If plans are present it will be necessary to use lime sulphur at the rate of one half pint to 50 gallons of water. Lime sulphur is a contact spray and will only kill the lice on the surface. If dry lime sulphur is used follow directions on the box. It usually takes from three to three and a half pounds of lime sulphur to equal one gallon of the liquid solution. Spray thoroughly. Use a fine nozzle and as much water as is possible," declares County Agent R. T. Glasco.

NINE BOOTLEG CUSTOMERS IN ONE WET CITY

I know a city which is wet. It's not just inclined that way; it's shishy, sloppy, slippery—and sizzly! In the older days before prohibition came you could get the beer smell of the city when you were fifty miles out. People drank beer for breakfast, beer for lunch, cocktails for dinner, and then they had beer for going to bed, writes Chas. William Moore in Colliers.

I mention these facts because if the best people are patronizing bootleggers and sneering at prohibition they'd naturally expect to be able to substantiate such a promise in that city.

Therefore I set about the task of finding the best people by noting carefully the clumps who pay down their good money for the bootleg stuff that is peddled around. Of course it is peddled, and it is being drunk, so it was not difficult for me to find the "best people." I was looking for any clump who was just an ordinary fellow with a job, a home, a little family, and a reasonably large number of good friends. But up at the top of the social ladder I found the bootleg stuff. But I can look both ways and study them.

I am going to tell here about every person I have known to buy illicit liquor in the past year.

THE TWO FIRST ONES.

The first man was night watchman at a factory. He buys his stuff each week, and loves it. He rents a small three-room flat, for which he pays $18 a week. He scoldingly devotes all of his time to memorizing vulgar stories.

The second man is a salesman, working on a commission basis. He too lives in a flat, for which he pays $60 a month. He has no children, and it is a good thing, for they would probably go hungry. He came into my office one day and talked for an hour about the wonderful "bug" he had just secured, and then wound up by borrowing $10 from me. His wife told a friend she didn't have a nickel to spend as she wished.

The third customer is a professional man who earns $150 a week. He is a brilliant man, esthetic, a dreamer, and thoroughly impatient. He is a devotee of doing exactly as he pleases. He is unhappy at home, and lives away from his wife most of the time. A fine mind has been allowed to sour.

The fourth is a workman in a garage. He worked on my car, while I stood by waiting to take it out. Once he left his work and went to the garage to get his car. He was steering wrong backward, and I had to spend $3 for a taxicab because of his mistake—he was at least a bit careless.

Another example is the president of a manufacturing concern. He plays polo and hobnobs with the elite. In fact, he's one of them. I know him only slightly. He is worth millions. But he inherited the business from his father and is not worth as much as when he took it over. He has been divorced by his wife, and although he spends his fortuneable place, I do not ever see him. The least, I do not think he is happy. Without his money I don't believe he would be popular.

Charles H. Boring, a salesman. He is a whirlwind worker, and gets a lot of business for his concern. He has more pep than most young men of thirty. In fact, I believe he is one of the best salesmen I have ever known. Yet at sixty he is earning perhaps $75 a week. About all I know of him is that he is a father left him 100 acres. He married a woman who owned 100 acres. He has made the rest. He comes into the city and gets hog-drank every few months, and is then picked out of the gutter. One of his boys is in the navy, and the other is working in a garage. They don't seem to care very much for their father. His wife is worn and haggard, and I've never seen her smile.

CLASS CONFIRMED BY BISHOP WEBB

Tells of Universality of Lord's Prayer in Sermon at Local Church.

A class of 18 was confirmed at Trinity church, Sunday night, by the Rev. William Webb, Milwaukee, bishop of the Milwaukee diocese. It was Bishop Webb's 20th confirmation class at the local church. He was assisted by the rector, the Rev. Henry Willmann.

Those confirmed were Emmanuel Ellsworth Hill, Frank Tyrrell, Charles Campbell, Theodore Richards, Margaret P. Beckingham, Agnes J. Campbell, Mary E. Rogers, Mary H. Hill, Margaret A. Tyrrell, Olive Fonda, Floyd W. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Buckenham, Mrs. Frances Hill, Mrs. Isabelle H. Frenz, and Edward A. Grube. Before preaching his sermon on "The Kingdom Come," Bishop Webb took a moment to praise the local congregation for its fine response to any request made of it, and especially in connection with St. John's Home for the Aged, the only philanthropic charity in the diocese, and the nation's program.

"There is nothing more and in this world than an old woman or an old man without a home," said Bishop Webb in referring to the work done at St. John's home in Milwaukee.

Talks on Lord's Prayer

Preaching the sermon on the text, "The Kingdom Come," Bishop Webb dwelt upon the Lord's prayer, in which this appears, a prayer which is the most wonderful of all.

"No formula of prayer is more widely used in which it is printed in 600 languages, and those who have used it for years find it doing into all sorts of mounds of their lives."

Bishop Webb said it is for each person to work out his own salvation with "fear and trembling," and said that the kingdom of God has come in vain unless it has come to the individual.

He said that God has given each person one thing which he cannot hide and which has an influence on everyone around him, that being man's personality. He said people should use it in their homes, their work, their clubs and meetings.

Speaking of baptism and confirmation, Bishop Webb declared that it is something which hard-headed men will call them modern Christians though they have not been baptized. "What would they think of a person who had not been accepted as a member and initiated?" he asked.

"Baptism makes one a member of Christ's kingdom and confirmation strengthens him, converts each person into a militant member, a soldier in a war from which there is no discharge."

"It is a fight against the world, the flesh and the devil, to conquer sin, and every one, regardless, in that war and we need all the help, all the armor. It is a question of whether we are going to use it," the bishop said.

JAPAN ELECTIONS DEFEAT KIYOURA

Tokio.—With nearly half of the constituencies reported in Saturday's parliamentary election, a majority for the opposition combined against the Kiyoura government is virtually assured.

While belief is growing that Premier Kiyoura and his cabinet will resign shortly, it is stated in authoritative circles that the chance in government will be withheld until the formal state election early in June of the marriage of Prince Regent Hiroko.

Viscount Tokutomi Kato, president of the Kenseikai party, is considered Kiyoura's most likely successor. Kato is a former minister of foreign affairs.

MAJOR MARTIN IS SAFE ON RUGGED COAST WITH AIDE.
The American embassy today on receipt of the news that Major Martin of the United States would fight night had been found.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Cordova, Alaska—Major Frederick C. Martin of the army globe-circling air squadron, and his mechanic, Stuart Sprague, today were alive and well after having undergone severe hardships during the last 10 days they were missing, today were waiting at Port Moller, 100 miles west of Cordova, Alaska, on the Alaskan peninsula, for instructions from Washington which will determine their next step.

The aviators are resting in the quarters of the Pacific-American Fisheries company at Port Moller, where they are receiving the best of care. In the meantime, the coast guard cutter Albatross is speeding to their assistance from Unalakleet, Alaska, unless contrary orders are received, the Albatross will take the two aviators back to Dutch Harbor.

A message received yesterday said both escaped injury when their plane crashed into a mountain peak and was wrecked at 12:30 p. m. April 30, on an hour and half after they left Chignik bound for Dutch Harbor to rejoin the air squadron.

Making their way over frozen wastes with the greatest difficulty, they carried the two fliers finally reached a trapper's cabin on May 7 at the most southerly point of Port Moller bay. Exhausted by their flight, they remained at this cabin three days and then walked along the beach to Port Moller, where they flashed to the world the news that they were alive and unhurt.

No word had been received up to an early hour this morning from Alutia Island, where the rest of the air squadron is awaiting favorable weather for a hop-off across Bering sea to Paramushiro Island, in the Kuriles at the north end of the Japanese Empire. In this jump, the aviators will cover a distance of 575 miles, the longest in the 27,000 mile circuit of the earth on the fliers' schedule.

The following wireless message from Maj. Martin was received here at 1:15 a. m. today from Port Moller via St. Paul Island:

"Crashed against mountain in fog on 30th at 12:30. Neither of our existence was due to concentrated food and nerve. Arrived at a trapper's cabin south-east point of Port Moller bay morning 7th. Exhausted. Food. Rested three days. Walked beach. Waiting instructions.

Land Covered With Snow.
It has not been learned how many fliers the two aviators were from Port Moller bay when their plane was wrecked. But this journey took them a week.

The country is occupied by hills. South of Port Moller bay the peninsula is but twenty-five miles across to the Pacific ocean. Port Moller bay is a branch of the Bering sea. The region still is under snow, and difficult to ford.

To the tale of Maj. Martin's fate, for which the world has been waiting eleven days, a strange feature is contributed by the fact that two and a half months ago, last Sunday evening that they saw a plane ten or fifteen miles from Port Moller. But the place where Maj. Martin hit the mountain apparently was at least thirty miles from Port Moller, which is twenty miles from the southern end of the bay.

Maj. Martin was making his second desperate effort to rejoin the command, which went on without him when he descended April 12 between Seward and Chignik with a leaking crank case. On departing from Chignik he turned north, instead of taking the route laid down, which went southwestward. The last authentic report of the sighting of Maj. Martin's plane was a half hour after he left Chignik. A trapper on Lake Chignik, twenty-five miles north of the town, saw the fliers flying 400 feet above the frozen waters.

Maj. Martin left Chignik in such a storm that the other members of the expedition, then waiting for him at Dutch Harbor, had considered it nearly impossible that he would not be by that day. Northwest gales and snow prevailed.

Suffered Hard Luck.
The prolonged peril that the major and his mechanic have just survived was preceded by a forced landing April 25 in Krimik bay, en route from Kamatak to Chignik. After pausing in the face of a blizzard to get their bearings they flew on, only to be forced down again in Portage bay, where they were rescued by the United States destroyer Hull. At Kamatak a new engine was installed in Maj. Martin's plane.

WOLVES INVADE DANCE.
Hudson, Minn.—A hungry wolf pack recently interrupted a masked ball at Bradford. They made their way into the hall while the dancers were so engrossed with their merry making that they failed to comprehend for some time what had happened. The animals were as badly frightened as the fainting women, and most of the brutes were shot before they could escape.

URGES COLLEGE MEN TO QUIT PRO BALL

Ann Arbor, Mich.—College men should resist the lure of professional baseball unless they are good enough for the big leagues, in the opinion of Ray Fisher, Michigan coach, himself a former college player who graduated from Middlebury college into the major leagues as a second baseman.

Fisher said the major leagues do not offer any opportunity for the average ball player and that training is one of a nature to ruin the player for the professional game.

WOLVES INVADE DANCE.
Hudson, Minn.—A hungry wolf pack recently interrupted a masked ball at Bradford. They made their way into the hall while the dancers were so engrossed with their merry making that they failed to comprehend for some time what had happened. The animals were as badly frightened as the fainting women, and most of the brutes were shot before they could escape.

UP TO COOLIDGE TO VETO TAX BILL

Situation Between the President and Congress Growing More Critical.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924, by the Janesville Gazette. Special Correspondence.

Washington—The makers of compromise legislation together with an inevitable battle between the executive and the legislative have been forced to a climax.

Instead, the president is expected to veto the bill, which the republicans have a majority to enact a single one of his major proposals.

As if to add more confusion to an already complicated situation in congress, Senator Henry Lodge, republican leader, has gone against the vetoed position of President Coolidge on the world court by proposing an alternative scheme.

The administration's influence in congress suffered a vital blow when Mr. Lodge turned from the president on the world court issue, but Mr. Coolidge has been fighting alone for several weeks.

A veto of the tax bill is a foregone conclusion of the senate does not ride from its position in conference.

Then will come another struggle over the McNary-Haugen bill, a measure designed to raise the price of wheat to about $1.40 in the bushels of an agricultural corporation.

The idea of an international conference on disarmament this summer has been discouraged by President Coolidge, largely because he doesn't think Europe is ready to talk about it.

The political situation grows more confusing every day. Mr. Coolidge has won the republic's nomination. His record in the primaries was a surprise to those who did not think he was a vote-getter.

The contest for the democratic nomination proceeds with undiminished activity. Mr. Coolidge's nomination is being held on various state delegations and will be in a position to dictate who shall be the nominee.

Read the full page auto contest advertisement in last Tuesday's Gazette. The third week's contest will begin next Tuesday, May 13th.

FOR THE BLIND

W. C. PARKS

Bringing to the office an appreciation of the needs of the blind as well as education along the lines necessary for most effective work in this department, W. C. Parks has become a resident of this city.

Though he has been here only a short time, Mr. Parks has accomplished much in the work preliminary to conducting an organization from which the blind of the state will reap the greatest benefit.

Mr. Parks and M. A. McGiloway, blind agent of the state school, are now at work throughout the state, gathering more data and ascertaining the individual needs of the blind.

Coming to Janesville is more than an ordinary pleasure to Mr. Parks for it was through the state school for the blind that he gained his education for matriculation in college.

With the tourist season rapidly approaching, Janesville is making more preparations than usual for the influx of summer travelers and campers.

To insure the tourist camp being maintained in a sanitary and neat condition, City Manager Henry Fox has engaged the services of John McFarland as part time caretaker and custodian.

Instead of being an eyesore to tourists as it has been at times in the past, it is hoped to make it a spot that will attract them.

HERE'S HOW TAX BILL HITS YOU

All Federal Levies Are Cut in Measure as Passed in Upper House.

Washington—The tax bill as passed by the upper house provides reductions in all individual income taxes, both in future years and on income of the calendar year 1923, payable this year. The senate bill retains the 25 percent retroactive reduction applying to last year's income, the language being exactly the same as in the house bill, which means that this provision cannot be eliminated.

Normal Income Taxes
The senate bill fixes the normal tax rates at two percent on incomes up to $1,000, four percent between $1,000 and $5,000, and six percent above $5,000. In the house bill, the two and six percent rates are the same, but the middle rate is five percent.

The Simmons estate tax as embodied in the senate bill ranges from one percent on that portion of income between $10,000 and $11,000, up to 40 percent on that portion in excess of $200,000. Under the house bill, the surtaxes run from 1 1/2 percent between $10,000 and $12,000, to 27 1/2 percent above $200,000.

Personal Exemption Enlarged
Personal exemptions are not changed either in the senate or house bills, except that under the Simmons amendment adopted in the senate the exemption for all heads of families is made $2,500, this exemption now applying only when income is below $5,000.

The senate bill repeals the capital stock tax and surtax for that tax, and the 12 1/2 percent tax on earnings and the 10 percent tax on corporate earnings supplemented by surtaxes on percentages of undistributed earnings.

The surtaxes include fifty different brackets, the lowest being one-fourth of one percent, which applies on undistributed earnings in excess of 10 percent and not in excess of 11 percent of surtax income.

It is estimated that corporations which retain less than 30 percent of their income will pay a somewhat smaller tax than if a flat tax of 14 percent had been imposed as originally recommended by the finance committee.

The senate bill establishes a system of inheritance taxes applying on beneficiaries of an estate as a substitute for the estate tax of the present law, which applies directly on the estate.

Upper House Levies
The rates in the senate bill range from one to 35 percent, which appear somewhat higher than the rates of from one to 25 percent in the present law, but are actually lower in the case of an estate which there are several beneficiaries.

Under the house bill, the estate tax system of the present law is retained, but the rates are boosted to a maximum of 40 percent.

The senate bill imposes a gift tax with the same rates as under the senate inheritance tax. The house bill also imposes a gift tax with the same rates as the inheritance tax.

Auto Taxes Reduced
The senate bill goes further than the house bill in reducing automobile taxes. The senate bill repeals the tax on automobile parts entirely, while the house reduces the five percent tax to 2 1/2 percent.

The treasury recommendation for partially reducing the tax exempt situation through a limitation on deductions from net income was eliminated from the bill as passed by the senate, but is in the house bill.

JOHN DIETZ BODY BURIED AT RICE LAKE

Burial was in Meadow Creek cemetery in the family lot where three of his children are buried. Another was buried at Thornapple farm during his struggle with the lumber companies in Shawano county. His widow and six children survive.

ASK INFORMATION ON GASOLINE COST

State Investigation Into Motor Fuel Situation Gets Under Way.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Madison—The first step in the state-wide investigation of gasoline prices in Wisconsin was taken today when inquiries were sent to all gasoline dealers and jobbers in the state by the state department of markets, asking for information as to prices paid and charges for the product.

Detailed statistics are requested by the state department as to reasons for an alleged "uniform level" of prices over the state. Information also was asked as to conditions and practices which would tend to all out wholesalers during the next few days and in the meantime general responses from the inquiry are expected.

Commissioner of Markets Edward Nordman also calls attention to the fact that dealers testified as to the excessive number of service and sales stations and the construction of new ones.

The inquiries are being made as part of an extensive probe of gasoline prices in the state as requested last week by Attorney General Herman L. Eklund.
